

Questions to think about:

What are some recurring reasons why the our forested areas are in danger?

Are there plants and animals that are common to most of the regions?

What are some reasons for the differences in plants and animals that inhabit these different regions?